

Beautiful Girl

By A. Lucas Finch

Verse 1:

          G                  D
Beautiful Girl, why ya so sad,
          C                  D
Is that little man, treatin' you bad?
                          G                          D
Well, it seems like ya've been down this road before,
                          C                                          D
But the next thing you know, you're headin' back for some more.
          Em    Bm    Am                  Em    Bm    Am
What will it take for you to see he'll never be the one you need?

Chorus:

          G                  Em
You're too smart for him, too nice for him,
          C                  D
Too cute for him, too kind for him.
          G                  Em
He will never change, always be the same,
          C                  D
As long as you keep playin' his game.
          C                  G
You're too good for him.

Verse 2:

          G                  D
Beautiful Girl, why do you cry?
          C                  D
That little man, is such the wrong guy.
                          G                          D
He's always lettin' you down, and makin' you blue.
          C                  D
He cares about himself more than he does you.
          Em    Bm    Am          Em    Bm    Am
To him you'll always be just an object to fulfill his needs.

Bridge:

Am Bm
Now he's finally gone just a little too far,
Been a little too mean, left one too many scars.
Am Bm
Now you're goin' away; ain't lookin' behind,
C D
You're heading down south for a new life to find.

Verse 3:

G D
Beautiful Girl, I am so blue.
C D
You're one of the best people I ever knew.
G D
But now you're packing your bags, gonna find a new home.
C D
Now that mean little man, will be left all alone.
Em Bm Am Em Bm Am
I will miss you when you've gone away, but at least you will be free today.

Chorus:

G Em
You're too smart for him, too nice for him,
C D
Too cute for him, too kind for him.
G Em
He will never change, always be the same,
C D
As long as you keep playin' his game.
C G
You're too good for him.
