

Kayla

By A. Lucas Finch

Verse 1:

D                    G            D                    G

There is this girl that I know, as cute as one can be.

D                            G            D                            G

Her face is lit up with a constant glow, and she always acts so cheerfully.

D                                    G            D                                    G

There's not a vicious thought inside her head; she's so innocent and sweet.

D                            G            D                            G

But if you ever cross her, you'll be dead; she will knock you off your feet.

Em                            G

She will look at you with that glare in her eye;

Bm                            A

Her vengeful wrath is gonna make you cry.

Em                                    G

You will fall to your knees and beg her for some grace;

Bm                            A

Then she'll laugh at you and spit in your face.

Verse 2:

D                            G            D                            G

A little man named Joe came up to me; he was trying to pick a fight.

D                            G            D                            G

His buddy Shane was there to help him out. It was really quite a sight.

D                            G            D                            G

Then Kayla came to my defense and said, "You better not mess with my friend.

D                            G            D                            G

If you do it'll be the death of you; Your lives are gonna end."

Em                                    G

Then she looked at them with that glare in her eye;

Bm                            A

Her vengeful wrath it really made them cry.

Em                                    G

Then they shook with fear, and they turned and ran.

Bm                            A

That was the last I heard from that little man.

Chorus:

D G D A D G D A
Oh, Kay – ay – ay – ay – la, won't you come and rescue me?

D G D A D G D A
Oh, Kay – ay – ay – ay – la, won't you come and rescue me?

Verse 3:

D G D G
Since that day I've never been afraid; no need for worry or for fear.

D G D G
I leave my front door unlocked all the time, and I never check my rear view mirror.

D G D G
When threats and enemies approach me now, I have a guardian and friend.

D G D G
She'll watch my back all through the day and night; her allegiance knows no end.
